MEMORANDUM FOR: Chief, Information & Management Support Staff, OL

VIA: Chief, Supply Division, OL

25X1 FROM: [redacted]

25X1 SUBJECT: Suggestions For A Special Award [redacted]

REFERENCE: Memo for multiple addresses from C/IMSS/OL dated 14 Oct 86, same subject

25X1 [redacted] has reviewed the reference and suggest that the Office of Logistics/DDA award be titled "Logistician of the Year" as we are all logisticians per se in the OL career service. We could also suggest Logistical Scientist of the year but that would be stretching it a bit, albeit Logistics is a science. Another thought to be considered: we have engineers in the DDA as well as the DDS&T; would OL engineers be considered for the DDS&T award as "Engineer of the Year"? What about OC engineers? Would Computer Scientists be eligible for the DDS&T award as "Scientist of the Year"?

Suggested other awards within the DDA: This parallels the action addressees in the DDA memorandum.

Communications Specialist of the Year (Communicator of the Year)
Finance Specialist of the Year (Financier of the Year)
Information Services Specialist of the Year (Hope this is not confused with DDO Information Management Staff)
Medical Services Technologist of the Year
Personnel Specialist of the Year
Security Technologist of the Year
Training Specialist of the Year.

The MG career services, i.e., Support Officers are not addressed and and might be categorized as "Administrator of the Year" or Support Generalist of the Year.

DDS&T is suggesting two awards per year. We have multiple offices in the DDA and would have to probably spread the awards over a 3 to 4 year period to encompass all DDA offices.

Again, these are suggestions, but do have merit.
